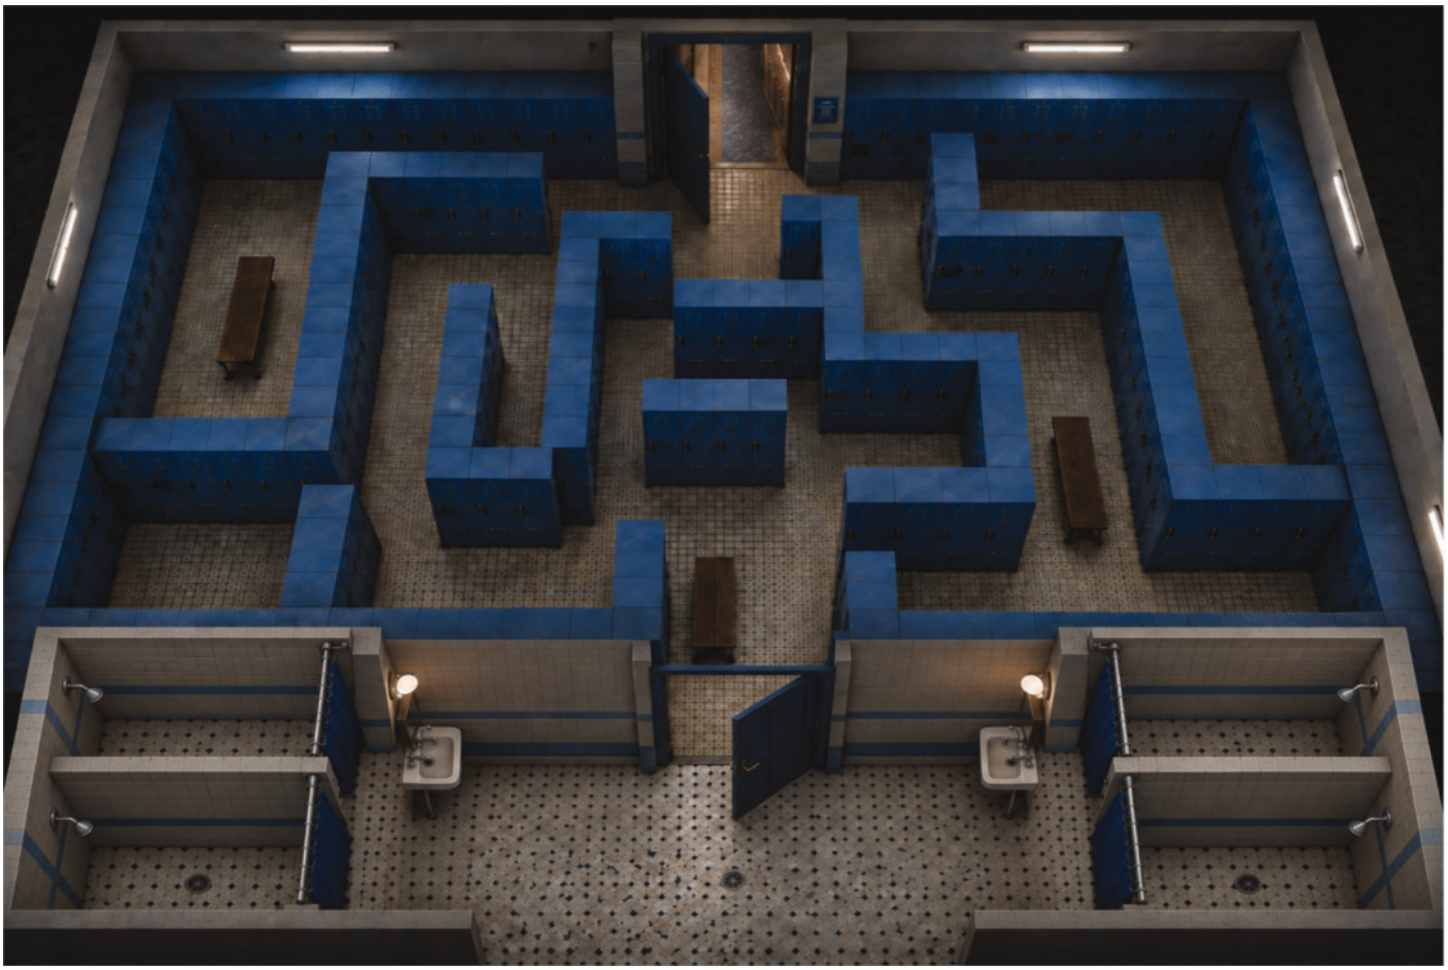
Introduction

Welcome to my Familiar Place. I genuinely hope you enjoy yourself here! This is a place of dreams, some we aren't meant to remember. Humanity has visited for centuries, but the reasons and lessons still elude us. Some have called it the astral plane, the afterlife, or another dimension. Scholars refer to it as "soul school," "sleeper school" or "the mansion world." The newest pop culture iteration is "the MallWorld." Regardless of what you call it, each of us visits nightly in our dreams and subconsciously learns its secrets and invaluable life lessons.

As one of the most important and most visited places, the theater spans multiple regions. There are vast tunnels connecting to the theater, making it a huge central transport hub. But have you ever seen a show? The department store has many exits, but how do you really leave?

The hospital cafeteria has tons of options and endless seating! Be careful if you find the spiral stairs to the basement. You might not know what else is down there with you.

We call this the "Soul School" or life school. Sometimes you can't find your class or books, but you'll still be taught a valuable life lesson.



At least these are clean... But I would still appreciate the exit!

The hotel is one of the most beautiful buildings in the world. A glass and marble tower reaching for the sky! But there always seems to be someone watching you...

This old Victorian mansion is the last stop on the mountain tour. It features the largest library in the world! There are also tons of little secrets to discover, like passages hidden inside bedrooms, secret doors, and dark tunnels.

This old farmhouse was once an idyllic place to grow up! Now something always seems mysterious, almost sinister, there. It sits just off the highway that seems more chaotic than a roller coaster!
